Airport Information

San Juan ( UAQ )

San Juan does have an international flight, but only one and that is from Santiago Chile. This means it is highly suggested to fly via Santiago Chile to San Juan as your boat will be transferred to San Juan. If flying via Buenos Aires, you will have to pick up your boat at the international terminal and travel via shuttle bus to the domestic terminal which might work with one boat, however if travelling with two boats or a team with more than one or two boats this shuttle will be extremely challenging. This means we suggest to fly via Santiago Chile with kayaks.

Ezeiza International Airport ( EZE )

Located in the Federal Capital of the Country. You must to move to AEP to take a domestic flights. It takes about 1hour to get between J Newberry Airport to Ezeiza International Airport and visa versa by Shuttle bus. If you are using Airolinas Argentinas, the shuttle should be free.

Aeroparque Jorge Newbery Domestic Airport ( AEP )

Located in the Federal Capital of the Country. You need to connect another flight to UAQ.

Domingo F. Sarmiento Airport ( UAQ )

Located in the province of San Juan to 10 km Accommodation of Athletes. Only receives domestic flights and one international flight via Santiago Chile.

Mendoza ( MDZ )

Mendoza is another alternative. It's around 2 hours from San Juan by bus and costs approximately €25 Euro without a kayak. Mendoza is an International Airport so may have more options for connections.

Santiago de Chile Airport ( SCL )

Located in the neighbouring country.

Aeropuerto Internacional El Plumerillo ( MDZ )

Located in the neighbouring province, 160 km from the city of San Juan.

Possible recommended connections :

1. Santiago Chile to San Juan. The easiest way to get to the worlds
2. Ezeiza ( EZE ) you must head to (AEP) by minibus or van, and then fly to Domingo F. Sarmiento (UAQ)
